368 Lily Street is located on a 25' x 38' lot on the north side of Lily Street, between Buchanan and Laguna Streets. Built circa 1895, 368 Lily Street is a one-story, wood frame, single-family residential building designed in a simplified Classical Revival. The rectangular-plan building, clad in shiplap wood siding, sits on a reinforced concrete perimeter foundation and is capped by a gable roof. The primary façade faces south and is two bays wide. The left bay is set back from the right bay, and features a recessed entrance marked by a simple door hood with brackets and crown molding. This entrance contains a single wood-panel door with transom, which are flanked by decorative pillars and interior wood paneling. The right bay features two double-hung wood windows with ornamental surrounds, a boxed sill, pilasters, brackets, sculpted frieze panels, and a projecting cornice capped by a triangular pediment. The primary facade terminates in a tall parapet wall distinguished by an entablature with a panel molding, large brackets, and a projecting cornice with metal coping. The building appears to be in good condition. Aerial views indicate an auxiliary building that is located behind the main residence.
