

Join the Railyards Working Group

To help shape the future of the SF Railyards and surrounding neighborhood, nominate a community representative or apply for the Railyards Working Group.

WHAT IS THE RAILYARDS PROJECT?

The Railyards Project envisions the SF Railyards as a regional transit center with a new rail station, added Caltrain service, and neighborhood with housing, office and public spaces. The Railyards Project will identify potential track layouts and development concepts for the SF Railyards Site.

WHAT IS THE RAILYARDS WORKING GROUP

The Railyards Working Group (RWG) builds on the work and lessons learned from the former Community Working Group established for the RAB (2016-2018). The RWG will serve to ensure an informed public of the family of Railyards projects, as a forum for sharing information and understanding decision-making processes, ensure an equitable and transparent public engagement process that promotes community design priorities, and support current project schedules.

WHAT WILL BE REQUIRED?

The Railyards Working Group is expected to hold virtual meetings every quarter for 18 months, starting in the summer of 2022. Once established, the working group will be invited to refine its role and schedule based on project need. Working group members will be selected in order to represent a diversity of stakeholders and communities. All interested parties, including representatives of low-income communities, communities of color, and transit riders, are encouraged to apply. Stipends will be available for participants.

To nominate or apply as a community representative on the Working Group, visit:

tinyurl.com/SFrailyards

For updates and future meeting schedules, visit:

sfplanning.org/railyards