WHAT IS A DENSITY EXCEPTION?

Planning Code Section 207(c)(8) establishes a density exception for projects located in RH Zoning Districts. In all RH Districts, up to four units (not including any ADUs) are allowed on all lots, and up to six units (not including ADUs) are allowed on corner lots so long as certain conditions are met.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF DENSITY EXCEPTIONS?

- Projects in RH Zoning Districts are eligible for an exception from dwelling unit density limits up to four units per lot, or six units on corner lots, not including Accessory Dwelling Units.
- Projects that are using a density exception and are constructing at least 4 units are subject to a 30% rear yard requirement or 15 feet, whichever is greater.
- Historic Resource Assessment (HRA) Application fees are refunded if the application is 1) completed prior to this application and 2) the owner signs an affidavit stating their intent to reside on the property for a period of three years after the completion of the project.

IS MY PROJECT ELIGIBLE FOR A DENSITY EXCEPTION?

Eligibility - Project Features:

- The project is not seeking a density bonus under Section 206.5 or 206.6.
- The project does not cause a substantial adverse change in the significance of an historic resource as defined by California Code of Regulations, Title 14, Section 15064.5
- The project must comply with all applicable requirements of Cal. Govt Code Sec. 66300(d) as amended from time to time.
- The project must construct at least as many units as would be demolished;
- The project must replace any Protected Units; and
- The owner must offer existing occupants of any protected units that are lower income households relocation benefits and a right of first refusal for a comparable unit.
- At least one of the dwelling units resulting from the density exception must contain at least two bedrooms or shall have a square footage equal to no less than 1/3 the floor area of the largest unit on the lot.

Eligibility - Project Location:

- Must be located in an RH Zoning District.

Eligibility – Other Requirements:

- If the project is a rental project, any units constructed over the allowable density for the zoning district would be subject to rent control, and the owner must enter into a regulatory agreement with the City to subject the new units to the San Francisco Rent Stabilization and Arbitration Ordinance.
- If the project is an ownership project and will use the new construction pathway for condominium conversion, the owner must sign an affidavit stating that they intend to occupy one unit in the project for at least three (3) years after the completion of the project.
- The applicant must submit an affidavit that states the project applicant is the owner of the property and owned the subject property for at least one year prior to filing their application (including any time where an Eligible Predecessor owned the property).
